THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

THE NEW YORK ELEVATED RAILROAD.

ITS CONSTRUCTION, ROUTES AND COST.

The New York Legislature did not adjourn without passing a bill for the erection of an elevated road. The bill has received the Governor's signature, and is likely to go into immediate operation. The World says the bill provides for the incorporation of three companies, respectively named: The West Side & Yonkers, Broadway & Yonkers, and East Side & New Rochville. The first named line is to run on Greenwich street and Ninth Avenue, to King's Bridge, and the village of Yonkers; the second, on Broadway from the Battery to Sixty-fourth street, and thence to Yonkers. The third is to go to Harlem Bridge and New Rochville from the Battery via Pearl street, the New Bowery and Third Avenue. The estimated cost is $250,000 to $500,000 a mile inside the city, but less in the country. There will be eight depots for each mile, and where suitable second story rooms cannot be obtained, the cars will be reached by spiral stair-cases.

The structure, when erected in the streets, is to be placed over the curb-stone on each side, and supported by wrought iron columns nine inches in diameter, with spaces of about twenty five feet between the same. Cars are to move in opposite directions upon the two sides of the streets, each side having a single elevated track. The columns are to be arched in a patent method to solid foundation piers, or masonry placed below the surface, in such manner that the structure can be placed in line and adjusted without disturbing the foundation. The track is to be composed of steel, and calculated to bear five times the utmost weight of loaded passenger cars placed upon it. The supporting columns are to be kept from oscillation by a secondary row of smaller columns placed next to the buildings, or by a system of ornamental awning frames connecting the track with the buildings; springs of rubber and steel are to be introduced beneath the track to counteract concussion, and it is claimed that cars will be compartively noiseless in moving upon it. The depot is to be connected with the track by a thick glass platform, as is now used in ground floors.

The cars are to be moved by a series of wire ropes, each performing its office for a distance of 1,500 feet, and by a patented method the cars pass from one of the series to the next without change of speed or loss of power. By this means the size of the motive rope or cable is reduced to a smaller size than ever before deemed practicable for the rope purpose. Steel wire rope half an inch in diameter is deemed sufficient.

HOW REGISTRATION WORKS.

THE REGISTRATION SWINDLE.

The disgraceful exhibition of the utter trampling upon all law, right, and decency, known as the registration in this city, is still continued. More than half of the white citizens fully qualified under the law are turned away, while every negro who applies is immediately accepted and registered.—Naturalized citizens are not only required to produce their papers, but to leave them with the registrars, with a very dim prospect of ever getting them back. Old citizens who have lived here a quarter of a century, and who pay individually more taxes than the whole Radical party in the State pay collectively, are turned away because they have been at some remote period of their lives school directors or aldermen under the city government, and are suspected of having sympathized with the rebellion.

From the New Orleans Picayune, April 21.

NOT TO REGISTER AND VOTE IS TO VOTE AGAINST THE SOUTH.

Under ordinary circumstances, you might consult your sense of the fitness of men to vote with you, and decline to vote with such as you deemed unfit. But this is a moment of peril to your wives, your children, your sisters, and to those men who are disfranchised by Congress; and if you shrink from voting now, you commit their future—which they cannot, but you might, control—to those who desire to trample all their feelings, aspirations, hopes, interests, their everything, in short, into the very dust.—If you wish to see those whom you profess to love, to cherish, and to honor, bereft of all hope, and the wretched and helpless objects of insult and oppression, refuse to register; deprive yourselves of a vote and let your State fall into alien hands. He who will not now take part in the reorganization forced upon us by a power we cannot resist, votes that those only shall govern the State, preside in its courts and execute their decrees, collect, appropriate, and disburse its revenues, and prescribe its laws, who desire, like Brownlow, to drive out every man of Southern heart and Southern affections, that a new population may possess the land. Not to register and not to vote is to vote against the South.

A NEGRO TRIES TO VOTE IN NEW YORK.—Quite an amusing scene took place at the tenth election district of the seventeenth ward, yesterday morning, which was occasioned by the appearance of a Spanish darkey before the polls, who with Democratic tickets in hand, desired the inspectors to allow him the "privilege to exercise his right as a citizen." "When did you become a citizen?" inquired one of the inspectors.—"Well, I don't exactly know," replied the dark-hued gentleman, "but I want to vote. Here, won't you take my ticket? It's about time that you knew all men are equal before the law; so here, just drop 'em in." Courteously and with many bows the inspectors informed the would be voter that owing to legal circumstances over which they had no control they were obliged to refuse his vote. At this the ambitious dark man left the room, and, changing his tickets, he went elsewhere to find somebody who would compel "those fellows behind the glass boxes to stick to the true course of their business."—Herald.

An attentive correspondent writes us that he has recently travelled over the larger portion of Buckingham and Botetourt counties, and found the wheat crop looking splendidly—never better. The Farmers are working industriously, and there is every prospect of pitching the corn crop almost as early as usual, notwithstanding the extreme lateness of the spring.—Winchester, Va. Times.

A Vermont journal separates the marriages from the deaths by a page. He sees no sense in their customary juxtaposition.

RAIL ROADS.

NOTICE.

OFFICE SEABOARD & ROANOKE R. R. CO., PORTSMOUTH, Va., March 23d, 1867.

It has been understood by the officers in charge of transportation via the Seaboard Inland Freight Route, that letters addressed to the Railroad Agent at Portsmouth, on the subject of freights, are unanswered, and that in consequence, causes of delay are not explained, and claims for losses and damage unsettled, and as the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad Company, who are the forwarding agents for the line, are satisfied that these causes of complaint are not due to their Agents, but to the inaccuracy of the mails, in order to test this subject, the Manager of the Seaboard Road requests that whenever persons have written to the undersigned Agent of the Seaboard Road, and after waiting a reasonable time for a reply, have not received it, that they will address him a letter enclosing a duplicate of the letter they had previously addressed to the agent. If this is complied with, and the Manager of the Seaboard Road receives the letter, he gives assurance that it shall be promptly investigated and replied to.

This Air-Line Freight Route

claims to be the most expeditious and direct route, and avoiding to a great extent Marine Insurance, also the cheapest freight route between the Northern Cities

North and South Carolina.

As Freights consigned by the Company's connecting Steamers is forwarded from Portsmouth within twenty-four hours after being landed, there is no reason for delays, and although freights may sometimes be missent, it will in such cases be promptly traced, and if not found will be paid for. The Companies forming this line cannot be responsible for the rapid transportation of freights or charges upon it, unless sent

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, calastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful; causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her magical power causes you to come to her and know the mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she discovers the future destiny of man. TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 30, 1867.

SENATOR WILSON.

Hon. Henry Wilson, of Mass., arrived in this City last evening by the Goldsboro train. We learn that he was met at the depot by Mr. Holden, a number of the army officers of the city, and others, and escorted by them to the Yarboro' House. One or two hundred persons, mostly colored, assembled on his arrival at the hotel, to whom he was introduced by Mr. Holden. Mr. W. made a brief address and retired.

At night, Mr. Wilson addressed a crowd of blacks, there being but few whites present, at the Second Baptist Church, colored, on national matters. We have heard nothing from his remarks there, except that they were mainly addressed to the colored people and designed to influence their action, touching only upon those points most likely to arouse and impress them.

Senator Wilson breakfasted with Mr. Holden. Several of our prominent citizens called at the hotel to pay him the courtesy due his position as a U. S. Senator, but they failed to see him, as he had not returned. His announcement to speak in the Capitol Square was made for 11 o'clock, A. M., but he did not arrive until about 12. A few hundred white and colored persons had assembled to hear him. About twelve o'clock, Mr. Holden introduced Mr. Wilson to the audience. Mr. Wilson's person is somewhat commanding and pleasant, his manner agreeable and kindly, but his voice defective in force and power, as were his thoughts. He is far from being an orator, yet we have heard less interesting speakers.

Mr. Wilson commenced by saying that his visit to the South, to address the people, had been pressed upon him. On this occasion he proposed to speak frankly.—He was not the representative or agent here of any one, and, in what he should say, he designed to wound no one, was ready to answer any question, and invited reply or criticism, if he erred. His object was to speak the truth, simply for himself.

He claimed entire exemption from blame for the "loyal" States, in bringing on the war. He justified all that they had done, before, during or since the war. The government had acted magnanimously towards the "rebel" States. The causes of the war he traced through a running, but tedious, historical narrative of the action of the government and of the States, from the beginning until the war broke upon the country, and charged the cause to slavery—slavery, which the South persisted in upholding and defending, when the fathers of the country, the history of the world, the Bible and the human conscience had condemned and denounced it!

The narrative was rather specific, bringing out in relief all those points which put the Northern people and the Republican party on the vantage ground, and everything condemnatory of the acts of Southern statesmen, but carefully avoiding any allusion to those complaints and causes of complaints alleged by the South to have involved the North in equal or greater guilt than itself.

Mr. Wilson did not, of set purpose, perhaps, labor to be unfair in his historical narrative, but, following out the bent of his own feelings, and confining himself almost entirely to statements which were admissible, he nevertheless passed over many very important facts, necessary to a full and faithful picture of the events of the past, as participated in by the Northern and Southern portions of the Union. We listened, for an hour or more, but as he failed, up to that period, to notice the important topic of reconstruction and its cognate subjects, we found ourselves obliged to leave. His speech so far being purely historical and being already in the possession of intelligent persons throughout the country, we must content ourselves with the foregoing brief notice of it.

While many of Mr. Wilson's statements might have been criticised and refuted, it had already been determined, before his arrival, that no reply should be made, and nothing was done, by those differing with him, to violate the courtesy due to a stranger occupying his position.

MORE CORN FOR MORE LIGHT.

It seems to be understood that the South will be flooded, the present season, with Northern speakers, to enlighten the Southern people. Every day consumed by our working people in the South, in hearing speeches, is a loss to working men of at least $1 each. If the average attendance at these meetings is one thousand working people, the loss at each place would be $1,000 per day. If the number of these speakers should be twenty, then each day consumed in speech-making would be a loss of $20,000 to the productive gains of the Southern laborer.—The matter, then, of Southern enlightenment is assuming an aspect in political economy rather serious.

It occurs to us that the present condition of the bread question can hardly bear so much light. Unless our good friends, North, will send into the South about 5,000 bushels of corn for each Northern speaker, their light will becomes darkness. We need the bread, whether we get the light or not, but the bread must certainly be sent, if the light is.

THE RICHMOND Examiner says that the defeat of Radicalism in Virginia is certain, and the deluded Virginians, who are now giving their aid to this doomed party, are sowing the seeds of mortification and disgust that will follow them through life.

A Nevada newspaper calls a cotemporary "a broken-winded, choleric, whang-doodle newspaper concern."

DISAPPOINTED

It is somewhat amusing to witness the disappointment and chagrin exhibited by a portion of the press and politicians of the North, at the comparative manimity with which the Southern people have resolved to re-construct under the provisions of the Sherman Bill and to carry out all its literal requirements. This disappointment exhibits two phases: In the first place, it manifests itself in a sensitive anxiety lest the Northern States, themselves, may be compelled to adopt the feature of universal suffrage, and apprehension lest a successful application of the Congressional legislation in regard to the South may set a precedent for its application to the North, as well, at some future day. This element of probability never entered their calculations.—They are perfectly willing that the blacks of the South should be allowed to vote and hold office, because they suppose that that will be a punishment to the South, but they have no idea, so long as they can help it, of investing them with those privileges in their own midst. Their benevolence and love of liberty does'nt take that turn. New England philanthropy never did. Boston was growing rich on the products of slave-labor, all the time that it was lifting its hands in holy horror over its "barbarism."

But the chief concern with the Radical leaders at the North, is lest, after all, their object in enfranchising the negro, viz: the perpetuation of their political power, may be defeated. It was their expectation that the blacks would adopt their party shibboleth in solid column. In this calculation, they betrayed their usual ignorance of the character of our colored people. The latter gladly accept the boon of political equality, though thousands of reflecting men among them understand why it was bestowed. They know that no particular love for them prompted it, and they will accordingly use it, in the long run, in that way which will secure to them the greatest amount of good among the people with whom they are to live.

Apropos to this subject, we cannot better conclude this article, than with the following extract from the leading editorial in the New York Times, of Saturday last, a paper whose support of the Republican party is well known, though we would not include it in the class of papers, of which we have spoken above:

"We confess our expectations of Republican success in this canvass are not high. The time has gone by when the Republican party can hope for aid and support in the South. A wise and generous policy, characterized by confidence rather than hatred, and relying on interest rather than force, adopted two years ago, would have made one-half the Southern States as thoroughly and reliably Republican as New York or Indiana. The adoption of such a policy is no longer possible—nor if it were, would it have the same effect. The Republicans now rely for this result on separating the blacks from the whites and carrying the elections by the negro vote. We do not see any great chance in their succeeding. Missionaries from outside, tracts, speeches, exhortations and kindred influences, however zealous and strong, will always be weak and impotent as against the daily contact, the mutual dependence and the constant pressure of business and of social activity. This always has been the case, and it always will be. It is so in the North, in spite of the intelligence and independence which characterizes our people. The laborers in the mines of Pennsylvania vote in the main with their employers. The mass of the workers in Lowell and Lawrence, and everywhere else, vote with those who give them work—not from compulsion or from fear, but from conviction, or at least from preference. They naturally act with those on whose capital they live. Their first and strongest feeling is that their interests are the same, that they must stand or fall, prosper or pine together. And no amount of political propagandism ab extra succeeds in putting them apart.

There is every reason to suppose that the same thing will prove true in the Southern States. The blacks and whites in the main will go together. There may be temporary and local separations, but as a general thing, and in the long run, the whites will plan the campaign, mark out the programme, nominate the candidates, and the blacks will help elect them. And probably one of the most important of the results achieved by Congress, in the enfranchisement of the negroes, will be the increase of political power which it thus conferred on the Southern States."

POLITICIANS, like another class of people, should have good memories. Mr. Senator Wilson is endeavoring to create the impression that he has been, "for thirty years," consistent in his present position on the subject of slavery. Perhaps so. In the appendix to the Congressional Globe, volume 31, 2d session, Thirty-third Congress, page 238, now before us, we find the following in a speech by—Henry Wilson!

"We believe that slavery in the States is a local institution; that we are not responsible for its existence, and that we have no legal authority to interfere with it in any way whatever. I am content to leave slavery to the people of the States where it now exists. I recognize the Democratic doctrine of States rights, in its application to slavery as well as to other local affairs, and, while I have a seat in this chamber, I shall resist all attempts to encroach upon the reserved rights of the sovereign States of the Union! I will stand side by side with my Democratic friends in vindication of the Virginia and Kentucky resolutions of 1798-9, which they endorsed in Baltimore in 1852!"

It is reported that, in consequence of repeated evidences of disloyalty, Fayetteville, N. C., is to have a garrison of United States soldiers located there. This is General Sickles' district, and is supposed to be by his orders.—N. Y. Herald.

This is not only ridiculous and contemptible, but wicked. We will guarantee that Gen. Sickles has been influenced by no such considerations in sending a garrison to Fayetteville. There is not a more peaceable, orderly and law-abiding community in the Union than that of our sister town. "Disloyalty!" We know of no disloyalty South of Mason & Dixon's line. It is all on the other side, where it exists at all.

A negro in Indiana, who was originally as black as any Congo, has turned white within the last year or two.—Exchange.

This is nothing. We know of a good many men who were originally white, who have turned "as black as any Congo" in a less time than a year.

THE TWO RACES.

If both races in the South act with propriety, fairness and justice towards each other, as we believe our people, both black and white, are disposed to do, and would do, if let alone by demagogues and fanatics, no conflict would ever occur.

If Northern men, and Southern men with Northern principles, would leave these matters to the natural operation of the great principles of true freedom, and attend more to the condition and improvement of Northern society, they would show more humanity and more sense.

The colored freeman, to-day, enjoys more real freedom in North Carolina than he does in Ohio or New York, and his rights under the law are as safe and more easily protected. If a colored man in North Carolina selects any business he chooses, and can sustain his credit as an honest, upright man, he is less the object of suspicion and opposition, than he would be in any Northern State. No one objects to it, no combinations are formed to put him down, no one envies him, except some of his own color, in his success, and, if he maintains his upright character, the road to prosperity in matters of business is as open to the colored man as any white man enjoys in the Northern States.

But how long can this state of things remain, if the enemies to the peace of society in the South, whether Northern emissaries or Southern factionists, continue to endeavor to inflame the feelings of the blacks against the whites, among whom and by whom they have been raised and supported? What if the blacks of the South are made to believe that the Southern respectable whites are their enemies? What if they are made to believe the wicked lie, that the Southern whites have no sympathy for them, are not interested in their welfare, and would gladly seek the chance to enslave or disfranchise them? What if they are made to believe the monstrous falsehood, that Northern men are their best friends,—what would be the consequence? Would not this produce, necessarily, distrust, alienation and hostility among them to the whites, among whom they are living; and then what would follow inevitably? Would it not lead to combinations among the whites here, such as now exist in the North, against the black man, to interfere with his business, to prescribe to him only certain callings and pursuits, and finally to actual collision? But for the few colored people in the North, what could have prevented, long ago, violent collisions there, caused by the combinations of the whites to prevent the blacks from pursuing certain callings? The poor blacks, it is well known, in many Northern communities, are completely ostracised and cut off from pursuing various callings which they desire to pursue. Ask the honest colored men in the South, who have lived in the North, if they regard the Northern States a better home for them than here? Ask them if they would look for as much sympathy, as much friendship, in the North, as they find in the South? Those are the best tests of real freedom and sympathy, where a colored man is allowed to pursue his own calling and finds most assistance and help from the respectable classes around him. Our colored people will find out, after awhile, not only who are their best friends, but, if they want help, they must look for it from those whom they are ready to help and ready to sustain. The two races are bound together by long friendship, old sympathies, and by their mutual interests. Let them spurn the man who labors to divide and to put in hostile array the blacks and whites, whom God, in His mysterious Providence, has made dwellers and friends together in the same land.

For the Sentinel.

MR. HOLDEN AND SENATOR WILSON IN 1856.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—On yesterday, I noticed Mr. Holden riding down the street in the same carriage with Senator Wilson.—The pair were, apparently, in loving concord.

After witnessing this interesting family spectacle, I went home, pulled out my old file of the Standard, and found the following in the issue of June 4, 1856. Mr. Holden, after praising Preston Brooks for caning Senator Sumner, went on to say:

"Language has no effect on such men as Sumner, Seward, Wade, and WILSON. It has been tried upon them by Douglass, Mason, and other Senators, and it has failed.—They are lost to all sense of shame, and feel only when they are CANED or licked. We do not believe they are honest; they are too intelligent not to know that they are in error on the question of slavery; and our belief is, that they agitate the question, not because they really sympathize with the negro, but for their personal advancement and gain.—The hundreds of thousands of uninformed persons whom they are inflaming and misleading on this subject, are no doubt honest; and "more's the pity." This consideration but sinks them the deeper among the vassal, the corrupt, and the infamous agitators and demagogues who have in all ages afflicted and cursed mankind!"

What a wonderful difference between now and then!

By the way, Mr. Wilson warned the colored people, in his speech in Tupper's church, last night, to beware of old "Secession, Calhoun Democrats." Would'nt it have been funny, Messrs. Editors, if some one, just then and there, had called for the reading of the celebrated "Ode on Calhoun," in which Mr. Holden "poured out his whole soul" so plaintively:

> 'Star of the South! thy beams are here—
> Here in this heart that weeps thy loss.
> Though hidden, thou art still a sphere
> Serene, refined from earthly dross,
> Eternal and intensely clear!

By the way, too, Senator Wilson ridiculed and denounced, as the meanest of all words, the word "Conservative." Mr. Wilson was once a leading member of the great Whig party of the country, whose proudest boast was that it was the "Conservative party." Wonder if he felt mean all the time that he was a Whig?

Mr. Wilson, too, advised his colored friends to steer clear of those who had denounced their "great Liberator," Mr. Lincoln. Some one suggested, in my ear, whisperingly, that Mr. Holden once spoke of Mr. Lincoln as a "tyrant, usurper and fool." Mr. Holden, however, evidently took none of these sharp allusions as personal to himself. He looked as serene "as a summer's morn," and as 'smiling as a basket of chips.'

Q. IN A CORNER.

RESPONSES.

The appeal of Mr. Wilson to the Henry Clay Whigs, of Virginia, to "fall in" to the "long-roll" of the Radical drum, does not seem to work. The Fredericksburg Herald, edited by a worthy gentleman of Whig antecedents, responds:

"The appeal of Senator Wilson to Henry Clay Whigs in the South, to fall into line under the Radical banner, is about as stupid as it is impudent. The Whig party was always known as a Conservative party. It never took near cuts to obtain success. It preferred to be right—as the body of the party understood the term—rather than elect Presidents.

It was its strong, persistent opposition to the acquisition of territory, that lost Clay his election in 1844. It was its determined support of the Missouri Compromise, that lost it prestige in the South. The Whig party proper was always, and eminently, conservative, and the appeal of Wilson to Whigs of the South, to forswear what constitutes the web and woof of their political action, will fail, utterly, entirely."

"The Whigs of the South never were consolidationists. They believed that each government, Federal and State, had its legitimate orbit in which to revolve, and that the wisdom of the framers of our organic law had wisely guarded against jarring probabilities; so that no danger existed in regard to the clashing of rights as long as each body revolved in its own orbit.

"The Whigs of the South did not recognize the right of coercion in 1860, and they do not now recognize MR. WILSON'S threat of coercion—confiscation—unless they joyfully accept the terms of the Military Force Bill! As they have been true in the past, so will they, the Whigs of the South, prove true to principle in the future. Not as a party—for the people in the South, thank God, are not partizans now—but as individuals they will prove true to themselves, in being true to their record."

The Lynchburg News, edited by a gallant gentleman of like antecedents, accomplished with both the pen and the sword, responds as follows:

"The policy of the movement in which Senator Wilson is engaged is so patent, that we wonder any Virginian should for a moment be deceived. The appeals to the prejudices and the cupidity of the old Henry Clay Whigs are so evidently prompted by the desire to perpetuate political power in the hands of those who have been the willing instruments in inflicting upon us the calamities under which we now suffer, that we are astonished at even the semblance of consideration with which they have been greeted. * * * * * *

"But the furnace of affliction in which we have been tried has welded the hearts of the Southern people into a homogeneous mass, in which former political prejudices have been broken down; old party lines have been blotted out, and the remembrance of common trials, common suffering, and common dangers has taken the place of memories of former enmities. During the war, through which we have struggled and suffered, all former party lines have been obliterated. The march, the bivouac, the battle-field, the hospital, the prison, and the cemetery, have been shared alike by Whig and Democrat. The half famished Whig has shared his scanty ration with the starving Democrat. The shout of triumph, which in the moment of victory rung out from the lips of the elated Democratic soldier, was re-echoed in stirring cadence by his no less enthusiastic Whig comrade; political distinctions were annihilated amid the smoke and carnage of the battle-field, and from that baptism of blood the Southern people emerged united by sympathy, endeared by suffering, and unitized by poverty and danger. * * * * * *

"Should any considerable number of our white citizens unite with the Northern Radicals, and draw into the meshes of their net the bulk of the colored population, the only effect would be to precipitate upon us in Virginia the horrors under which Tennessee is now groaning. We earnestly deprecate any action which must culminate in such calamity. We raise our voice in warning remonstrance against the incipient effort, and call upon all who would avert from us evils hitherto unknown to unite in frowning down the mischievous movement."

The Alexandria Gazette says:

"To meet and counteract these plans, [of the Radicals] the Southern people have no "money"—but they have honest hearts—and they have a common interest to sustain.—The Conservatives will hold fast to their principles, and be consistent, united and straightforward in their opposition to radical and destructive men and measures, as far as they are permitted to do so under the circumstances by which they are surrounded. All this may be useless as to present results. We do not know that. But it will, at least, be honorable, and it will be right. And there will be no regrets hereafter about pursuing such a course."

SATIRE.—It is well known that most of those who now fraternize with the colored people on the most intimate terms were in the past the most ultra advocates of slavery. For instance, the Convention which assembled in this City, on the 27th of March, had a number of "negro-traders" among its participants. Here the following bit of satire from the Cincinnati Gazette (Radical) comes in very appositely:

"Political equality has deodorized the African person, which once was so repugnant to the Caucasian sense that nothing but the profitable relation of slavery could make it endurable; or it has changed it to a sweet perfume. For surely nothing but this conversion of the senses could have allowed that pressing entreaty which is extended to them to come in crowds into the political conventions of the masters, and to take the highest seats on the platforms. Nor need this be thought strange, when we come to reflect that the most fashionable perfumes have an unwholesome origin. Need the fashion which has made sweet perfume of the secretions of the civet and the musk-deer, stop at the African odor? Walt Whitman, the only poet whose genius corresponds to the greatness of this country, celebrates smells for which prosy people make merchandise of deodorizers.

The intellectual development brought out by political rights is even more wonderful than that of the affections. They who till now were called a connecting link between the lowest of the genus homo and the ape, are now found to have strong reasoning powers, beautiful sentiments, and a most pleasing oratory. When they are on the platform, white speakers take the back seats, being no longer wanted. Listening crowds of their late masters hang upon their eloquent words. Richer than the rich Irish brogue, sweeter than the sweet German accent ever were to the ear of the Northern Democrat, is the musical softness of the African speech.

As the young mother, in the first transports of maternity, fondly apostrophising her child, ejaculated in a gush of affection, as she pressed it to her bosom, "How have I ever lived so long without you!" So we are led to wonder how the Southern whites could have ever lived so long without that affection and sympathy for the negro which now absorbs their emotional powers."

Owing to recent troubles, the Managers have issued the following Card to which the attention of the Public is called:

OFFICE PRESENTATION CONCERT, }
Baltimore, April 13, 1867. }

MESSRS. EDITORS,—Our attention has been called to extracts in Southern papers reflecting upon the management of the Presentation Concert in aid of the Southern Orphan Association, and in answer to the statements and assertions contained in such extracts we wish to lay the whole matter before the people, that they may judge from the actions of our accusers the motives by which they are governed. We call attention to the facts contained in the following card, and request the public to bear in mind that the parties mentioned were only members invested with no authority to act in any official capacity whatever. The power they sought to usurp would give them full control of the books and funds, by which they could shape the first to suit them, and withdraw the latter from the bank where it is now, subject to the order of the Association:

[From the Baltimore Gazette April 11.]

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Southern Orphan Association being liable to misrepresentation in consequence of the late arrest of some of its members on charges preferred by Mr. A. G. Kimberly, we beg leave to present the following statements in regard to the Association and its accusers:

At the inception of the Society the ladies connected with its origin, in view of difficulties that might arise in procuring a charter, determined to admit as members such gentlemen as were supposed to be proper to advise and assist them. Some of these gentlemen apparently worked for the sole benefit of the Association until the Charitable Concert was proposed. After that their actions showed but too plainly that they desired to obtain control of the Association.

At a meeting of the Trustees upon the 8th of March a constitution, drawn up by Messrs. Kimberly and Hawkins, investing them with full power and authority to handle the funds of the Association and to examine its books was proposed by Mr. Kimberly, and upon a vote being taken, it was laid aside. The ladies, with some exceptions, rejected it and the President and Treasurer, not recognizing the legality of the document, refused to vote. In this manner it was laid over. Notwithstanding this, the parties resolved themselves into committees and set to work.

On the 3d. of April a committee, consisting of Messrs. Kimberly and Bostock, under this so called constitution, came to our office and demanded the books. The President being present, stated that having refused to accept the constitution, she would not recognise the committee. On the 4th. Mr. Kimberly called, with two gentlemen, and again demanded the books, and was again refused.

On the 5th. by request of Messrs. Kimberly, Hawkins and Bostock, we, with two witnesses attended an interview with them at Barnum's Hotel. Mr. Hawkins stated that he had that morning received a letter from General Trimble, authorizing him to prosecute us for having opened one of the General's letters, which he intended to do to the full extent of the law if we did not give up the books. As the officers should decide this, we told him that he would be answered next day. On that evening the officers and ourselves were arrested on a warrant issued by Mr. Kimberly, and released on bail. The next evening Mr. Hawkins issued a warrant for the arrest of our book keeper Mr. Achiers, on the charge of having opened General Trimble's letter. As the charge was false, Mr. Achiers was dismissed. We see from this morning's "Sun" that these parties "announce their unqualified repudiation of the project," etc., which will be taken for what it is worth, when it will be shown that they repudiated, etc., because they lost their large commissions in the rejections of their farms and houses by the Society.

The offices and rank they append to their signatures are of their own creation, as the Society wishes the public to understand that it does not recognize the name and office of "Finance Committee" as ever having been created by said society.

We here leave the public to determine the motives of our accusers, for, to our mind, a simple narration of the above facts is sufficient to show that the Association and ourselves are attacked because we would not suit the purposes of Messrs. Hawkins, Bostock and Kimberly.

L. T. PALMER & CO.

In consequence of the persecution arising from our late connection with these persons, we are compelled to postpone the GRAND CHARITABLE PRESENTATION CONCERT to the SEVENTEENTH DAY OF JUNE, 1867. This will give us ample time to dispose of all the tickets, and it will afford the public an opportunity to investigate the facts which we have published, thus gaining that confidence which is necessary to ensure the success of every public measure.

We do not wish these statements to be taken unsubstantiated, as we cordially invite an investigation of the enterprise. The grand jury of this city presented us, and we hoped that they would go further and indict us, for we wished to prove to the world our honesty and disinterestedness in this measure, which could not be better done than in an investigation by the grand inquest.

It now remains with the public whether the "Home and School" shall be built. Whether the poor, fatherless children of the south, whose parents' blood was shed in defence of Southern homes, shall be deprived of the blessings which this enterprise seeks to obtain for them. Must we appeal in vain? No, it shall not be said that the Southern people were so ungenerous as to condemn those who are seeking to benefit the children of the soldiers who died for them, upon the evidence of men who, when they saw their own mercenary aims frustrated, sought to cover their guilt by bringing charges on us. Charges which, in the only trial that was allowed us, were proved to be as false as perjury could make them.

L. T. PALMER & CO.

Mrs. J. L. HAMMOND, President, Mrs. E. A. F. MEARES, Treasurer, Mrs. McCLINTIN and Mrs. SCHIERS, Trustees of the Southern Orphan Association, have also published a card. The following are extracts:

"We invite an examination of our books and the funds now accumulating in bank subject to the order of the Association, for the purpose of erecting the home and school for the orphans of the "Confederate dead" in the city of Richmond, Virginia. Nothing that we can say will testify more accurately the correctness of our plans than an investigation of our books and funds, and it was because we, as custodians of these treasures, would not surrender them to dishonest men, that we are now subject to their persecutions and abuses.

We have seen the horrors and devastation of the late war, and know the immense amount of suffering occasioned by it. Homes were rendered cheerless by the loss of its head, who fell fighting for the homes of the South, and it was our sympathy for the poor and friendless orphans of the South that caused us to enter into the resolution of securing for them a home and providing an education, as may render them hereafter good and useful citizens of a free and happy land.

We confess, however, that if we could have looked through the future and seen the trials and persecutions to which we are subjected, we would have never attempted to begin so thankless a work. But now, having embarked in it, our reputation is at stake, and we must build the Home and School; therefore we call upon all good people to assist us toward the completion of our work by discrediting the assertions made by our enemies. And we ask, nay, we demand—that those papers whose opinions were founded upon the acts of our employees, should give to the public our statements, and modify their assertions so as to be in strict accordance with the facts.

Not long since, Messrs. L. T. Palmer & Co., published a card which, as we approved it then, we will officially endorse it now, that the information contained therein may go forth to the public with every guarantee for its truthfulness.

In consequence of the delay occasioned by the conduct of the persons above alluded to, we have been compelled to inform our managers to postpone the Concert until the 17th. day of June, 1867, that we may be able to begin the building as soon as our Concert business shall end."

Grateful for the flattering patronage with which we have heretofore been so kindly favored, we respectfully solicit an increased share of the patronage of the citizens of Raleigh and the surrounding country. Without specially quoting, we deem it sufficient to say, that our stock mostly embraces such articles as are usually found in Family Groceries. Most of our goods have been recently bought in New York and Baltimore, for cash, and we hope to be able to sell them on satisfactory terms. In addition to our stock of Groceries, &c., we have a fine lot of

and a splendid lot of Confectioneries, consisting of all of which will be sold on reasonable terms.

We have also a fine lot of genuine Durham Smoking Tobacco, which we can implicitly recommend to "those who smoke." Please call and see us.

We will pay particular attention to all consignments of Produce and Merchandise entrusted to our care and will endeavor to sell at the best market prices. Consignments are respectfully solicited. By a prompt and close attention to business and fair dealing with all, we hope to merit and receive a share of public patronage.

THE SENTINEL.

TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 30, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Geo. T. Stronach, Admr., will sell at auction, on the 23rd. prox., valuable Household and Kitchen Furniture, a fine Milch Cow, &c.

See the announcement of the Grand Presentation Concert of the Southern Orphans' Association, referred to in our issue of yesterday.

Mitchell, Allen & Co., as usual, make an attractive announcement. It is one of the most enterprising firms in the South.

Geo. Green, Trustee, Newbern, will sell a printing establishment, complete, in that city, at public auction, on the 20th prox.

MAYOR'S COURT.—William Mills was up and bound in bond of $1,000, for his appearance before the Commandant of the post of Raleigh, at such time as he may designate, to answer a charge of selling liquor to enlisted men of the U. S. army, on the morning of April 29th, 1867, in violation of general orders No. 12, paragraph 10.

Richard Cates, colored, for the same offence, who failed to give bond and security, was committed to the post Guard House, subject to the orders of the Commandant of this post.

P. E. CONVENTION.—The following gentlemen have been appointed delegates, on the part of Christ Church, Raleigh, to the Annual Convention of the P. E. Church, to be held in Wilmington, on the 15th. prox., viz: Hon. D. M. Barringer and Messrs. W. R. Cox, K. P. Battle and Seaton Gales.—Alternates: Messrs. Geo. W. Mordecai, Thos. D. Hogg, R. H. Battle, Jr., and W. E. Anderson.

SMOKING TOBACCO.—Messrs. R. F. Morriss & Son, Durham's, will please accept our thanks for a present of their genuine "Spanish-flavored Durham Smoking Tobacco," received by Express this morning. In appearance it is a bright and beautiful article, and in flavor and quality superior to anything we have yet seen. The most epicure as smoker could desire nothing finer than this, and we advise all who want decidedly the best Tobacco yet manufactured by this well-known firm, to send in their orders, at once, to Messrs. Morriss & Son.

MAY EXCURSION.—We are requested to state that free Return tickets will be issued to-morrow, on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, to all who may desire to accompany the May-Day excursionists to Franklinton and Henderson. We have no doubt that many of our people will avail themselves of this opportunity of shaking off care and leaving work behind them for a few hours.

BRUTAL OUTRAGE.—We learn that as a highly respected female of the County, living some miles North of this City, was coming to town a few days since, unattended, she was approached by a young negro man and assaulted with an evident attempt to commit an outrage upon her. She was roughly handled before effecting her escape, and everything of value that she had about her person was abstracted. She applied at once, on reaching the City, to Mayor Haywood, who, not having the power to issue a general warrant in the premises, referred her to the military authorities. The latter gave prompt attention to her complaint, and at once sent out a squad of cavalry, with the lady and a friend, to make search throughout the entire neighborhood where the outrage was perpetrated. The miscreant could not be found, but the lady is certain she can identify him wherever she may see him. We trust that the villain may be yet arrested.

IT IS now stated that Capt. Estes, commanding the military post at Memphis, reconsidered his recent order prohibiting the decoration of the graves of the soldiers, and the ceremonies were allowed to proceed without interruption. Thousands visited Elmwood, and the graves of the heroic dead were profusely strewn with flowers and evergreens. Capt. Estes also accepted an invitation, extended by the ladies, to be present and witness the ceremonies. A religious discourse was delivered by Rev. S. H. Ford. The affair passed off quietly and pleasantly.

PENAGLE taught a system of artificial memory—mnemotechnics. One day a friend of his found a waiter in a coffee room laughing heartily. On asking the cause of his mirth, the fellow replied: "I can't help it, sir, it is raining hard, and that 'ere memory man has gone and forgot his umbrella."

A SERIOUS OUTRAGE.—Some time ago, the Postmaster General let the contract for carrying a daily mail between this place and Fayetteville, for four years, to a Mr. Clemmons, of Salem, we believe. Subsequently, Mr. C. let to a Mr. Edwards, who was keeping a livery stable here, the contract. Mr. E. ran the line a short time, but ten days ago Edwards determined to go North, where he belonged, and took the horses off the line, carrying them North with him, thus breaking up the mail line. Such an outrage we have never known committed in this country before. The Fayetteville people have suffered severely by this arrangement. It will be seen by the following letter, that they complain seriously.—Blame is attached by them to the Postmaster of this city, but, when they hear the facts, they will attach no blame to Mr. Miller. Dr. Jobe, the Special Agent of the Post Office Department, was here at the time, or soon after, and we assure our friends that he has made every effort in his power to get the securities of Edwards and others to take the contract, but in vain. He assures us that he has done his best to replace the mail on the line, without success. He has now gone to Fayetteville to see what arrangement he can make. Mr. Clemmons is responsible, as well as the securities of Edwards, and they ought, for their own protection, to continue the mail. Nothing but a daily mail from here to Fayetteville can meet the wants of that place, and we think that people should have it. We call the attention of all concerned to the following letter from a highly respectable citizen of Fayetteville:

FAYETTEVILLE, April 27th, 1867.

Messrs. Editors:—Last Sunday, the contractor for the mail between this place and Raleigh left with the stage horses, and, we learn, took all the horses along the line away from the different stables on the route, with the fixed intention to leave for parts unknown, and we have had no mail from that day to this. To say that it is a great inconvenience to this community, is a very mild way of expressing the outrage to this place; and the Postmaster at Raleigh is very inefficient or inattentive to his duty, being at the head of the route, not to send the mail by some other means, and charge it to the contractor Clemmons, of Salem, who is responsible to the government. It is not to be expected that the mail can be carried without an occasional delinquency or failure; but to stop it square off for an entire week, is a little more than anybody can stand.—Our merchant dealers in naval stores and produce have lost more than the whole line is worth, by not being advised of the falling off in prices in the last ten days, as they would have been, if we had received the Sentinel in time.

I write to you to see if you can't get after the Postmaster or somebody else, and have the matter attended to at once.

The Postmaster here says he has no authority to employ any one to take the mail and charge it to Clemmons, as he is not at the head of the route. Your attention to this matter will greatly oblige your subscribers and the whole community.

I send this by boat to Wilmington, to be forwarded to you from that point.

Your friend, K.

A FIREBRAND FOR NORTH CAROLINA.—The Hon. Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, intends to honor the Old North State by his august presence about the 6th of next month, when he will begin a canvass of that Commonwealth. The honorable firebrand will then go further South, and sow a good large crop of sparks in his tour, to burst out hereafter in a serious conflagration. We trust that he will be met by Governor Vance on the stump. We know no man better able to dispose of the dangerous visitor, and we trust that the vigorous sense, the keen wit, the honest indignation and inimitable humor of North Carolina's great speaker may be brought to bear upon Mr. Kelley. The State would soon become too hot, in an oratorical sense, to hold the honorable gentleman. By all means let the member from Pennsylvania be received by Vance to do the honors of the State upon the stump.—Norfolk Virginian.

A NEGRO AT THE NORTH.—The editor of the Philadelphia Press, the well-known Forney, has departed for Europe, to attend the World's Fair at Paris. As he was about to go, some attention was shown him by leagues, etc., in Philadelphia. The Colored Union League of that city waited on him, serenaded him, and made him a speech; to which he responded. In the course of his remarks he contrasted the treatment of the negro in the South with the policy displayed towards him in the North—in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, etc. After drawing the contrast, he added: "How utterly beneath contempt is the contrast, furnished in this exhibition by the unreasoning and pitiless spirit of hatred to the colored man in the old free States."

TENNESSEE.—The Louisville Courier thus speaks of the nomination of Etheridge for Governor of Tennessee:

"The conservatives of Tennessee ought to be indicted for their heartless cruelty. In nominating Emerson Etheridge as the opponent of Brownlow for Governor, they have put a plaster of Spanish flies upon Brownlow's back, compared to which a residence in a hogshead full of hornets would be perfect bliss. Etheridge is one of the boldest and most eloquent speakers upon the continent, and possesses a power of invective which is as scathing as it is powerful, and is precisely what Brownlow deserves, and what he will be sure to get. We shall watch this canvass with great interest, though we have no idea that Brownlow will dare to meet Etheridge on the stump."

A Western paper records this: In 1864, a notorious fellow named Stanton, while Provost Marshal of Wabash county, Ill., shot two young men whom he conceived had offended him. He was arrested and imprisoned, but subsequently released on a writ of habeas corpus, giving bail in the sum of $20,000, prominent Radicals signing the bonds. Stanton decamped, the bonds were prosecuted, but the case never brought to an issue, and finally the Radical Legislature passed a law releasing the bond holders and requiring the State Attorney to dismiss the case. Thus Radicalism in Illinois fosters and protects the crime of murder by special legislation.

THE NEW TERRITORY.—The New Haven Courier says that Capt. William W. Clarke, of New Haven, an old, successful, intelligent whaler, who has spent years on the coast of Russian America, declares that the country is worth ten times what we paid for it. Its fisheries are apparently inexhaustible, its harbors frequent and safe, its climate comparatively mild, and its lands rich in valuable ores.

Rhode Island has two cities with a population of 67,283; 133 villages with a population of 80,042, and a rural population of 37,640. Providence contains 54,595 of the 195,915 inhabitants in the State.

LARGE MEETING IN COLUMBIA.

COLUMBIA, April 29.

Another important meeting of whites and negroes was held here to-day, which was largely attended. Gov. Orr addressed the meeting at length, giving the colored men advice as to their political and social duties, and urged that they should, at present, attach themselves neither to the Democratic or Republican party, but wait, and array themselves upon the platform of a National Union party, that could be occupied by both races, South, and all the people of the North. He counselled moderation and patience, and promised that, provided the negroes did their duty, the people of the South would see them educated and secured in all reasonable privileges of freedom.

The Committee on Resolutions consisted of thirteen, white and black, who reported a conservative platform, which was unanimously adopted. It provides for free schools for the education of all children, and a revision of the civil and criminal code of the State.

After the resolutions, a speech was made by Rev. Henry M. Turner, colored, of Washington, D. C., who said that he cared for no party, but simply desired the rights of his race, and would adhere only to that organization which insured them all the privileges of manhood. He wished, above all things, to see a united South. For he felt satisfied, notwithstanding the education of the past, that the Southern gentleman is the best and truest friend of the negro.

Hon. James G. Gibbs, ex-Editor, followed with much good advice, referring to the duties of the colored citizens, and giving assurance of cordial co-operation of the people in measures looking to their (the blacks) advancement.

The meeting was also addressed by other citizens. Good feeling prevailed.

A mixed Executive Committee of thirteen was appointed for one year. Good results are anticipated.

Mr. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, is expected here next week.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 29.

Omaha dispatches say that the track laying on the Pacific Railroad has been recommenced.—There are sufficient ties to lay two hundred miles, and iron for forty miles, on the spot. KNOW THY DESTINY.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 225, Hudson, N. Y.

FERTILIZERS

FOR SPRING CROPS.

WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government.

We have now in store, for immediate delivery, 125 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

Results of Analyses Made of Bradley's Patent Super-Phosphate of Lime, as now sold by Wm. L. Bradley.

THE SENTINEL.

TUESDAY, APRIL 30, 1867.

SONG.

PAUL HAYNE.

I.

My wedded love is laid asleep,
The white lids closed o'er marvellous eyes,
That shine a meaning, pure and deep,
As midnight's far, unfathomed skies;
Her heart upon the tide of dreams
Is heaving like a fairy boat,
And o'er her face the mystic gleams
Of tender thoughts and memories float.

II.

My earlier love, I could not wed,
Is slumbering too, but far away—
She sleeps among the tranquil dead,
And couched upon the churchyard clay;
Her lids are closed o'er soulless eyes,
Her palseless heart is mute and cold—
But thought is busy where she lies,
And memory wakes beneath the mould.

SONNET.

PAUL HAYNE.

I love these Pines, because a soul is theirs,
That whispers even of the infinite sea—
The sea! my friend, my all in happier years,
Beside whose billows I have yearned to be,
Until that yearning grew a passion free,
And curbless as its waters; God of grace!
To gaze once more on thy majestic face!
Beloved and broad Atlantic! once again
To taste the sharpness of thy salt sea breath,
And wrestle with thy waves in ecstacy;
Yet, if this may not be—should merciless Death
Smite me afar from thy keen whistling brine,
O! let me rest where voices of the Pine
Echo that deep and melancholy main!

AN OLD LADY ASTONISHED.

A Cincinnati paper says an old lady, whose home is in the country, and who hadn't been in Cincinnati for several years, came in the other day to do some trading, her principal business being one of the few events in her life, the purchase of a new bonnet. She hadn't had a new bonnet since she was in Cincinnati the last time, and that was about seven years ago; nor had she seen any of the new-fangled contrivances—"trifles light as air"—which the women wear now-a-days in the place of bonnets. As a new bonnet was the engrossing theme in her mind on entering the city, of course she was on the alert at once to see what the fashion was. Imagine her consternation, then, in standing in Fourth street, watching the people as they passed by. For a while she was perfectly speechless, and then she was observed to throw up her hands and exclaim:

"For the land's sake! are the wimmin all crazy, gaddin' through the streets with nothin' on their blessed heads! What's becomes of all their bonnits?"

She went into a millinery store, and accosted a "gentlemanly and obliging" young lady in attendance.

"You see, I cum in all the way from Clarmount county to buy a bonnit. I've worn this one goin' on eight years. It's one that's rite in style. I didn't know what the wimmin was wearin', so I stood out here a blessed hour to see 'em pass, and I hope never to see my old man agin if I saw one with a bonnit on during that time! Some had a doll's handkerchief laid on the top of the head; others had what looked for all the world like oyster patties trimmed with blow-glass, and I declare to goodness if one woman, with a big rutabaga turnip on the back of her head in a fly net, wore any covering' ceptin' a peller circus ticket tied on with a ribbon!"

When informed that the styles she had seen were the latest thing in the bonnet line, the old lady's astonishment increased, and she was thoroughly bewildered by the time she had examined each of the varieties in the milliner's collection, particularly when she learned the accompanying prices. She looked at her old bonnet which had been preserved so carefully during the changing fashions of seven years, and compared it with the fashion of to-day, when the old lady fairly wept. She declared it was enough to drive one crazy to see such vanities as women wear now-a-days. "It wan't so when I was a gal," said she. "Women wore bonnits in them days that kivered their heads, and tied 'em under the chin instid of fast'n 'em to the back hair."

She left in great disgust, and said she would get right back to Clairmount, and wear her old bonnet till milliners got to making bonnets again.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

(Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.)

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 4t . section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this a ticle.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval departments of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God." which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or an executive or judicial office in any state, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each, representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as representing the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 23rd. day of December. The spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantage for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or South.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence no extra clothing is required.—In the single item of dress parents can save 25 per cent. of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages.—This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States.—Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.
